

MORAL PROBLEMS (Summer SCOQ II)

Instructor: Annesley, Kelley
Subject: 1PHL
Catalog & Section: 103
Course ID: 11795
Objectives:

Enrollment: 7
Responses Incl Declines: 4
Declines: 0

Teaching skills - Kelley Annesley (2 comments)

Q: Comments:

- 1 She was very attentive and took time to further explain in moments when students seemed confused.
- 2 Kelley adaptively structured our class to support our needs and make sure we understand every concept so well that we were equipped to come up with our own counterexamples and arguments.

Rapport with students - Kelley Annesley (3 comments)

Q: Comments:

- 1 Very respectful, she also took time to meet with students before class for questions and clarifications.
- 2 She was always available via email and was really good at giving opposing arguments. It made me think about the moral problems from many different angles.
- 3 Always available for help. Compassionate and understanding.

Academic Honesty - Kelley Annesley (2 comments)

Q: Comments

- 1 Very clear, we even discussed it in class.
- 2 We even got into the ethics of the policy and I read the entire policy for the first time ever.

Comments on course (2 comments)

Q: What are the major strengths of this course?

- 1 It provides a conceptual framework to think about various moral issues. I feel like I came out of the class with a better understanding of these issues and how to think about them from a philosophical point of view.
- 2 Philosophical engagement with topics that students care about on a personal level.

Comments on instructor - Kelley Annesley (7 comments)

Q: What are the major strengths of this instructor?

- 1 She was very good at clearly explaining topics that would usually be confusing.
- 2 She is very approachable and does not overcomplicate topics. She was also very clear in explanations and wanted her students to learn as much as possible.
- 3 Professor Annesley has a talent for creating a class culture where everyone feels comfortable engaging, even with extremely difficult and personally important topics. She quickly adapted the personal interests of the students to further illustrate the course content. She effectually leveraged the open & adaptive culture to increase understanding of the material, and to develop the philosophical skills of every student.

4 So down to earth and makes every concept easy to understand. The way she explains things and encourages our conversations, while leading us in the right direction is different than any professor I've had at this university so far. All of us walked out fully understanding the concepts and with more interest in philosophy.

Q: Please share any suggestions for improvement

1 None.

2 A few more short quizzes might give more grading opportunities and therefor lower the impact of doing poorly on a paper, and additionally increase engagement with the readings.

3 The only downside to Kelley teaching is that she doesnt teach more classes): . I would love to take a class in epistemology taught by her, as it's her field of study and i know I'd learn so much.